On behalf of Equal Justice Works and our partners, welcome to the Equal Justice Works 2012 Conference and Career Fair.

We have watched with great excitement as the public interest field has grown exponentially in the past 25 years. As student demand has grown, law school curricula, loan repayment assistance programs (LRAPs), and clinical and summer programs have expanded. Despite this progress, public interest law faces difficult challenges. Poverty is up; the justice gap is growing; legal aid and public defender budgets are shrinking. On top of that, the job market continues to struggle while tuition rates and the level of educational debt are growing, causing financial constraints that make it even more difficult for students to consider public interest careers.

Our conference theme this year is Navigating Your Future. It's a reminder that you are the captain of your ship, and only you can truly determine what path your career will take. As student demand has grown, law school curricula, loan repayment assistance programs (LRAPs), and clinical and summer programs have expanded.

This year we have gathered more than 118 public interest employers from around the country who are here because they have jobs, internships and volunteer opportunities specifically for students who are passionate about pursuing public interest careers. The conference speakers are experts and public service "success stories" who are here to share valuable information designed to help you develop the skills and acquire the tools you will need to guide you to your dream career. Seize this opportunity and maximize your time here by:

- Attending the Keynote Session to hear Supreme Court Justice Sonia Sotomayor as she shares her journey to becoming the first Hispanic and third woman to serve on the Supreme Court of the United States.
- Participating in the skills workshops and taking time to meet the presenters and hear their tips for pursuing a public interest career.
- Connecting with as many employers as you can at Table Talk and learning more about their organizations.
- Stopping by the Equal Justice Works table for information about our Summer Corps, Fellowships and Educational Debt Relief programs that can help you guide your career during and after law school.

Most importantly, network with your peers, learn what they are doing on their campuses and what opportunities they may have to share.

I want to thank the faculty and staff from our member law schools who continue to work with us to spread the word about public interest opportunities. Without their help and support, our Conference and Career Fair would not be possible.

Thank you for joining us. This conference is for and about you - the next generation of public interest lawyers and leaders. When you return to your campus, we hope you will keep in touch on Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn so you can stay informed of the latest developments as you navigate your way to a career in public interest law.

Sincerely,

David Stern

Career Fair Interviews

8:30 am to 1:30 pm

Jumpstart Your Job Search with Complimentary Resume Review, Cover Letter Review, Or, a Mock Interview

Registered law students are invited to meet with legal career services and recruitment professionals for résumé and cover letter review. The professionals will offer constructive suggestions for making your job search documents stand out. Additionally, this year we are offering a short, 15-minute mock interview and critique. These sessions will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Students must choose one review: resume, cover letter, or a mock interview.

CONCURRENT WORKSHOP SESSIONS • GROUP ONE

8:45 to 10 am

Career Strategy

What does success look like to you? Is it finding that elusive dream job? Is it finding any job? Is it finding a job that will put you on a path toward a fulfilling, lifetime career? First things first: tailor your resume and cover letter, maximize your networking, and polish overall job search strategy for personal success in any public service career. Join Michele Woodward, a nationally recognized career strategist, for an interactive workshop on hard and soft skills necessary to find success.

- Michele Woodward, Career Strategist, Master Certified Coach, and Author

Demystifying the Government Hiring Process

As the largest U.S. employer, the Federal Government employs over 2 million civilian employees, of which about 85 percent work outside the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. Despite reforms instituted in November 2010, the government's hiring process remains daunting. Join us as we discuss the ins and outs of searching, applying and interviewing for government jobs and using www.usajobs.gov. This session will also explore how a specific agency, the Department of Justice, recruits and hires, and what opportunities exist at this and other agencies.

- Nicole Schulteis, Certified Federal Job Search Trainer for the Resume Place
- Deanna Willis, Assistant Director for the Office of Attorney Recruitment & Management at the Department of Justice

Gideon's Army: Life as a Public Defender

More than 7 million Americans are either in jail, on probation or on parole. With the law providing that the accused have a right to a lawyer, the United States criminal justice system is struggling to keep up. This session, including clips of the upcoming HBO documentary film, Gideon's Army, examines a key constituency in the system, the public defenders. The work experience of a young public defender is exciting, challenging, and filled with daily demands rarely seen by attorneys in any other practice. Join us for a short progress screening of the award winning film, and a discussion with the film's Director and the Executive Director of the foremost public defender training organization, the Southern Public Defender Training Center.

- Ilham Askia, Executive Director for the Southern Public Defender Training Center
- Dawn Porter, Gideon's Army Director, and Trilogy Films Founder

8:45 to 10 am*Social Media Tools for Public Interest Law Professionals

Social media is here to stay – and its role in job search continues to evolve. Learn more about the tools and how to help students to think strategically about their use of social media and its potential impact for their careers and job search.

Open to Law School Professionals Only.

- Tara Rethore, President of Beacon Enterprises

CONCURRENT WORKSHOP SESSIONS • GROUP TWO

10:15 to 11:30 amHow to Write a Federal Resume

The federal resume is unlike any other. Its average length is 3 to 5 pages, and preparing it is like writing a take-home exam. Different federal jobs require different resumes; there is no such thing as a one-fits-all resume. Federal resumes must respond to the knowledge, skills and abilities set forth in the announcement; they must also reflect the level of supervisory responsibilities, subject matter expertise, and other factors. Learn all these nuts and bolts at this session.

- Nicole Schultheis, Certified Federal Job Search Trainer for the Resume Place

Once You're in the Room: Taking Advantage of Interviews

Congratulations, you landed the interview! You've got your foot in the door, but now what? In this practical and informative session, you'll learn how to ace an interview by showcasing what's best about you, and asking really great questions, including Career Strategist Michele Woodward's killer Best Job Interview Question Ever.

- Michele Woodward, Career Strategist, Master Certified Coach, and Author

Professional Social Networking

Social media is an increasingly important medium for connecting with others and maintaining your network. As such, it can also play a powerful role in managing your job search and career. Learn how to leverage social media strategically to advance your professional career.

- Tara Rethore, President of Beacon Enterprises

Strengthening Law Student Pro Bono to Increase Access to Justice

This is an important year for re-considering the role of law student pro bono as a response to the justice gap. Can we make choices that will enable pro bono to reach more clients, have broader systemic effects, fill gaps in state access to justice networks, coordinate better with courts, involve more students, and instill a deeper commitment? Can we improve quality through: supervision, reflection, training, support, faculty involvement, and deeper integration with other school initiatives? Can we reduce the burden on provider organizations and control costs through collaboration? Can we do more with technology to help law school professionals? How can we replicate the models likeliest to help close the justice gap? Through what policy reforms can we bring more resources to pro bono? All are invited to join the conversation about and with experts from the law schools and from the public interest bar.

- Jane Aiken, Associate Dean for Clinical Programs, Community Service & Public Interest for Georgetown University Law Center
- Arlene Rivera Finkelstein, Assistant Dean and Executive Director of the University of Pennsylvania Law School's Toll Public Interest Center
- Karen Lash, Senior Counsel Access to Justice at U.S. Department of Justice
- James J. Sandman, President of the Legal Services Corporation
- David Udell, Executive Director for the National Center for Access to Justice, and Visiting Professor from Practice at Cardozo Law School

INFORMATION SESSIONS

12:30 to 1:30 pm

Equal Justice Works Law Student Opportunities and Postgraduate Fellowships: Beyond the Basics

Postgraduate fellowships are an excellent way to creatively address unmet community needs while gaining valuable work experience. Join Equal Justice Works staff and a current Equal Justice Works Fellow to discuss the benefits of doing a public interest fellowship; an overview of programs including our Equal Justice Works Fellowships, AmeriCorps Legal Fellowships, and Summer Corps; tips for navigating the application process; what it is like to be a fellow; and what a fellowship can mean for your future legal career.

- Nita Mazumder, Law School Relations Program Manager for Equal Justice Works
- Jordan Pollock, 2012 Equal Justice Works Fellow, Public Counsel

Helping Those Who Served: Addressing the Legal Needs of Veterans

Veterans face higher levels of unemployment, incarceration, and homelessness than the population at large. The current administration's major initiatives aim to transform the Veteran's Administration into a high-performing 21st century organization that can better serve veterans, especially those returning from war in Iraq and Afghanistan. This focus, combined with an influx of federal money, offers employment opportunities in challenging and rewarding areas of law, including housing, criminal law, public benefits, employment, and military law. This informational session will include a discussion of legal issues facing veterans and military families. You will also learn about existing resources, case law, funding sources, and discuss ways students can build their skills, gain the "cultural competence" necessary to effectively work with veterans, and get involved in this major social justice issue.

- Koby Langley, Senior Advisor for Wounded Warriors for Veterans and Military Families at the Corporation for National and Community Service
- Lauren Peach, Equal Justice Works AmeriCorps Legal Fellow Alumnae

Opportunities for Law Students at Teach For America

Teach For America is growing the movement of leaders who work to ensure that kids growing up in poverty get an excellent education. What has that got to do with law school? You may be surprised to learn that a number of law school graduates are choosing to serve with Teach For America before moving on to a legal career. Come and hear from some of these alums as they share their experiences in the program and learn how it has helped their legal career.

- Becca Baneman, Associate at Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton, & Garrison LL
 - Courtney Cass, Executive Director for Teach For America - Baltimore
 - Tom Dunn, Teach for America Corps Member & Attorney, South Atlanta School of Law and Social Justice
 - Martina "Tina" Hone, Founder and Chair of the Coalition of the Silence, and Founder of Omnivox Strategies
 - Moderator: Douglas Rosenbloom, Founder and Managing Attorney at DSR Law Group, LLC

1:30 to 3 pm*Table Talk

Representatives from many public interest organizations, as well as federal, state and local governments, will host information tables on Friday and Saturday at the Career Fair. This provides an excellent opportunity for students to be able to informally network, especially from 1:30 to 3 pm with those employers they may have not received interviews from. Find out about any current volunteer opportunities, summer internships and postgraduate positions on a first-come, first-served basis. Even 1Ls can participate without running afoul of NALP guidelines. Plan ahead and strategize to maximize your time with all employers by choosing those you would like to speak with before Table Talk begins. Please be courteous to your fellow students and keep your face time as short as possible.

3 to 4 pmGENERAL SESSION*Drowning in Debt? Learn How Public Interest Lawyers Can Earn Loan Forgiveness

A must attend for law students planning to pursue public interest law, this session explains how you can benefit from the College Cost Reduction and Access Act, the most significant law affecting public service in a generation. In addition to getting the details on Public Service Loan Forgiveness, you will learn how to use affordable income-driven repayment plans and loan repayment assistance programs to manage your debt.

- Isaac Bowers, Educational Debt Relief and Outreach Senior Program Manager for Equal Justice Works
- Radhika Singh Miller, Educational Debt Relief and Outreach Program Manager for Equal Justice Works

the New York County District Attorney's Office from 1979–1984. She then litigated international commercial matters in New York City at Pavia & Harcourt, where she served as an associate and then partner. In 1991, President George H.W. Bush nominated her to the U.S. District Court, Southern District of New York, and she served in that role from 1992–1998. She served as a judge on the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit from 1998–2009. President Barack Obama nominated her as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court on May 26, 2009, and she assumed this role August 8, 2009.

Judge David Tatel graduated from the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago Law School. He began his career at Sidley and Austin before becoming the founding director of the Chicago Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law. From 1974 to 1977 he served as Director of the National Lawyer's Committee for Civil rights Under Law, and then became the Director of the Office for Civil Rights of the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare during the Carter Administration. In 1979, he joined Hogan & Hartston where he founded and headed the firm's education practice until his appointment to the D.C. Circuit in October 1994.

These sessions are appropriate for Students and Law School Professionals

9:15 to 10:30 am

Paving a Path to an International Career

Attorney positions in international human rights are some of the most sought-after public service positions. They are also some of the most selective, often requiring entry-level attorneys to have at least two years of experience. But where do you get the experience if no one will hire you until you have experience? Panelists will share their stories of how they parleyed domestic work into success in the international arena.

- Susan Gurley, Deputy Director for Equal Justice Works
- Nicholas S. Klissas, Senior Commercial Legal Reform Advisor for USAID's Bureau for Economic Growth Agriculture & Trade
- Denise Lamaute with the US Agency for International Development's Europe & Eurasia Bureau, Labor Markets and Workforce Development

9:15 to 10:30 am*Career Opportunities in the Criminal Justice System

Criminal justice careers can be exciting, rewarding, and offer many opportunities for advancement. Figuring out how to get the job you want is challenging. This session will highlight different roles in the criminal justice system: judge, public defender, prosecutor, and judicial law clerk, as well as the skills and experiences required for these positions. Panelists will share their stories, career successes, and challenges.

- Moderator: Kathryn Gravely, Indigent Defense Fellowships Program Manager for Equal Justice Works
- The Honorable Eric M. Johnson, Associate Judge, Montgomery County Circuit Court
- Peter Saba, Assistant Attorney General for the District of Columbia
- Jennifer K. Thomas, Director of Legal Recruiting for the Public Defender Service for the District of Columbia

- Radhika Singh Miller, Educational Debt Relief and Outreach Program Manager for Equal Justice Works

Opportunities in Non-traditional Legal Service Careers

This session will explore the various directions your legal services career could take, including setting up a solo practice, working for a law firm's pro bono practice, and others. The session will detail career options and look at the professional paths that lead to public interest work in non-traditional ways. Students will be advised on the experiences and skills to build to make them prime public interest hires.

The mission of Equal Justice Works is to create a just society by mobilizing the next generation of lawyers committed to equal justice. Founded by law students in 1986, the organization has since grown to become a leader in the public interest legal field with programs that provide a sustainable pipeline of talented and trained lawyers involved in public service.

Equal Justice Works offers a continuum of programs that begin with students entering law school and extends into later careers in the profession. We provide the nation's largest public interest law fellowship program, offering more postgraduate, full-time legal positions in public service than any other organization.

From its founding, Equal Justice Works has collaborated with the nation's leading law schools, law firms, corporate legal departments and nonprofit organizations to provide the training and skills that enable attorneys to offer effective representation to vulnerable populations. We:

- Help law schools establish and strengthen public interest programs;
- Provide public service work experience, professional development and training for students and lawyers; and
- Build strong support in the legal profession for public service through pro bono work and financial support.

CONTINUUM OF OPPORTUNITY

The Equal Justice Works AmeriCorps Legal Fellowship Program is one of the most productive and highly regarded national service programs in the nation. This AmeriCorps program makes a lasting impact on the communities it serves by facilitating pro bono opportunities and expanding the legal resources in low-income and underserved communities.

The Equal Justice Works Summer Corps Program is another AmeriCorps program that provides law students with the opportunity to dedicate their summer to public service at qualifying nonprofit and public interest legal organizations.

The Equal Justice Works Fellowship Program is the largest postgraduate legal fellowship program in the nation and creates partnerships among public interest lawyers, nonprofit organizations, law firm/corporate sponsors, and other donors in order to afford underrepresented populations effective access to the justice system.

The Public Defender Corps is an initiative launched in partnership with the Southern Public Defender Training Center (SPDTC) to combat the growing problem of underfunded and understaffed Public Defender Offices.

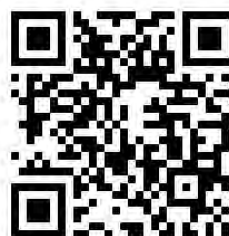

Seeking to provide help where it is most needed, Equal Justice Works is often the first responder of the legal community. Following the recent bank settlement in Illinois, we are currently launching the Illinois Foreclosure Fellowship Program, our newest initiative that will work with Fellows in Illinois to help families and other residents facing foreclosure.

Our annual Equal Justice Works Conference and Career Fair attracts thousands of students and lawyers exploring career options with leading nonprofit organizations as well as federal government agencies.

Equal Justice Works strives to ensure that anyone who wants to pursue a career in public interest law is not prevented from doing so by the heavy burden of student debt. Law graduates are frequently saddled with tens of thousands of dollars in debt, making it difficult to accept lower salary jobs. Equal Justice Works and our Educational Debt Relief Experts inform students and their advisors on the many educational debt relief options available, especially for those who commit their careers to public service. Through education on and advocacy for Public Service Loan Forgiveness, income-driven repayment plans, and Loan Repayment Assistance Programs, we work to help provide the public with passionate and dedicated lawyers and legal services.

SPREAD THE WORD

We encourage you to tweet and live-blog your thoughts on great workshop tips, our Keynote Session with Supreme Court Justice Sonia Sotomayor, Career Fair successes, and any other viral ideas that you wish to share. Be sure to include the hash tag #EJWCCF in your tweet. Don't forget to follow us on Twitter @EJW_org.

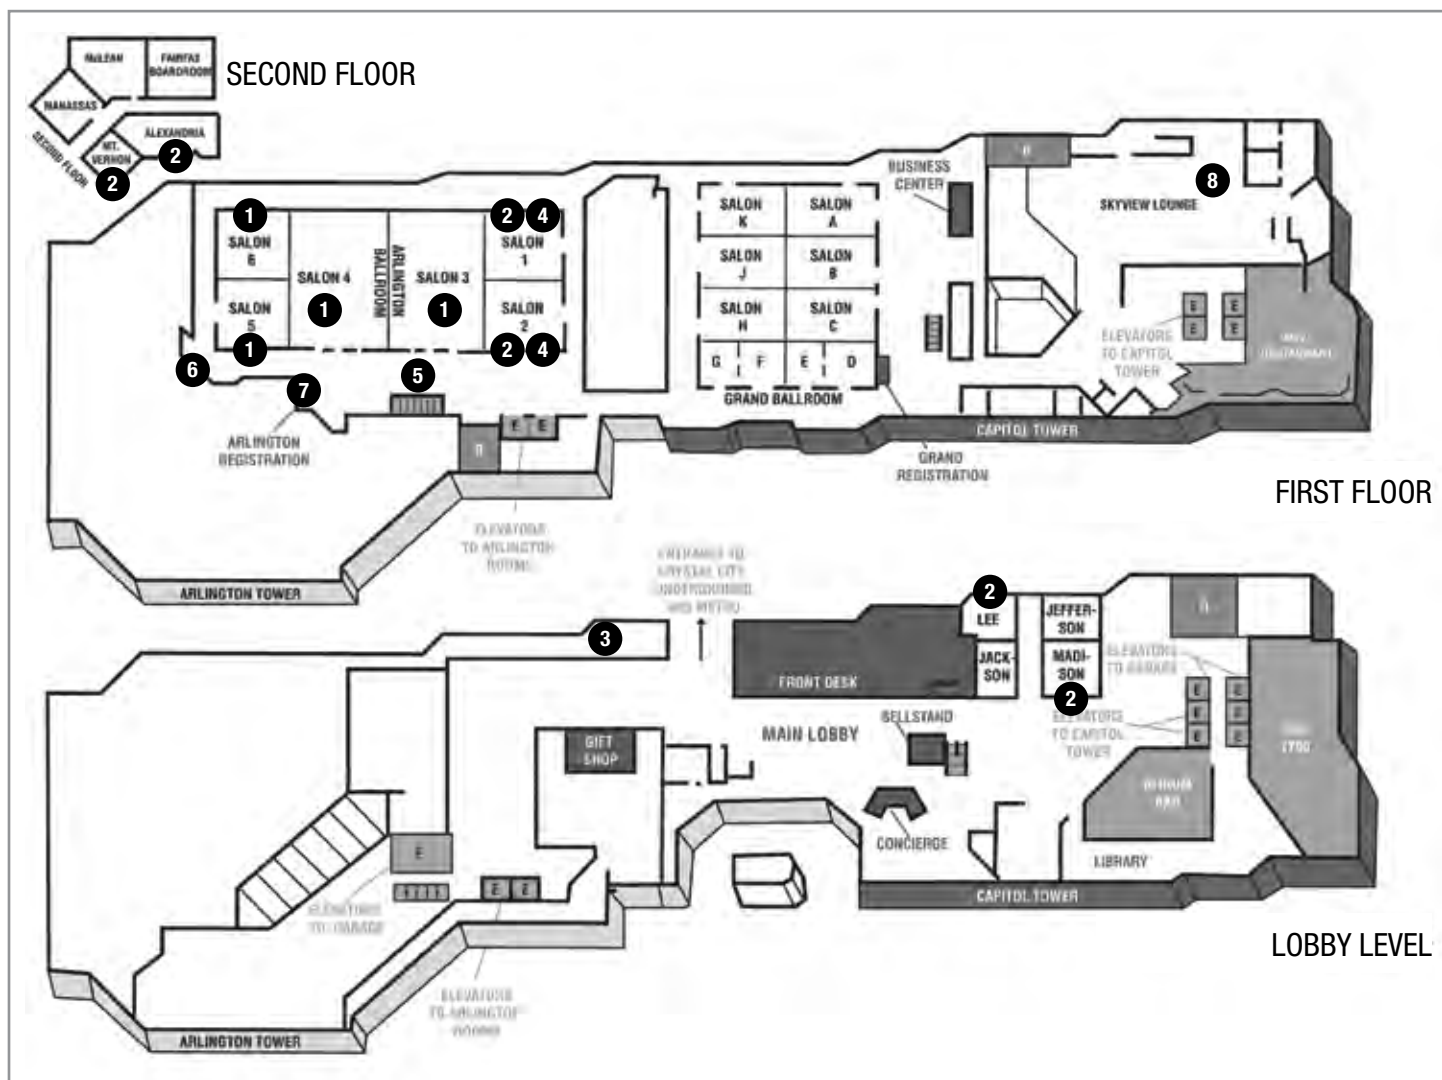

GREEN CONFERENCE

Equal Justice Works is committed to working towards a greener Conference and Career Fair.

- ALL conference materials will be posted online at www.equaljusticeworks.org. We will not print any workshop session materials.
- The conference program book is a reduced size and is printed on recycled paper.
- We have worked with the Hotel to provide environmentally-friendly practices such as reduced waste and recycling. The Marriott has implemented other environmentally conscious practices including energy-efficient fluorescent bulbs in hallway, lobby and bathroom lighting fixtures, upgraded windows throughout the hotel to be more energy efficient, and water-efficient low flow toilets in all public restrooms.
- We encourage our participants to continue to be conscious of their individual impact on their community and environment.

Equal Justice Works strives to ensure that the burden of high educational debt does not stand in the way of a public interest career. We have written a book to help you navigate your way through the educational debt maze and steer toward public service loan forgiveness.

Take Control of Your Future offers a range of information and guidance, from borrowing through repayment and relief programs that require you to take the right steps to qualify.

- Learn about Public Service Loan Forgiveness and how to earn forgiveness on federal loans.
- Read about how income-driven repayment plans can help lower the monthly payments on your federal loans, even if you aren't in public service employment.
- Find out about Loan Repayment Assistance Programs, how they help and where to find them.
